Douglas County Community Foundation Announces New Directors

Seven local professionals join DCCF Board of Directors

[Douglas County Colorado, March 13, 2024]. The Douglas County Community Foundation Board of Directors recently approved the addition of seven new board members to serve on its nonprofit board. With a vast background and range of experiences, these local professionals will help lead the organization as it continues to grow and expand philanthropy in Douglas County.

"It's quite an honor to have such a talented group of professionals join the Foundation board of directors," said Mike Waid, executive director. "The professional expertise and desire to serve Douglas County is second to none with this group."

The class of new Directors for 2024, serving two-year terms, includes:

- Heather Taylor - Principal, Impact Commercial Real Estate
- Jim Peros – VP Employee Benefits and Relationship Development, HUB International
- Linda Watson – VP Marketing & Public Affairs, Sky Ridge Medical Center
- Sara Goodwin – Senior Director of Communications, Catalyst Public Affairs
- Steven Crawford – Director, Relationship Lead, and Executive Coach, InteraWorks
- Susan Stiff – President, DCA (support organization for the DCPA)
- Tierney Aldridge – Advisor, Denver Agency

The Douglas County Community Foundation Board of Directors is comprised of 34 nonprofit leaders, elected officials, business owners, industry professionals, and dedicated philanthropists who serve to better Douglas County through philanthropy and community service.
