More than $36,000 Awarded to Twelve Douglas County Nonprofits
Douglas County Community Foundation Awards 2025 First Cycle Grants to Local Nonprofits Serving Douglas County Community

Douglas County, Colo. - Douglas County Community Foundation (DCCF) awarded twelve grants to local nonprofit organizations totaling $36,200 in its 2025 First Cycle Impact Grant program on July 11th. Through the generosity of DCCF's supporters, financial grants were provided to qualified local nonprofits creating lasting change through their missions, programs and projects that serve the Douglas County community. Congratulations to the following grant recipients:

- About Face Media
- Crisis Center
- Douglas County Christian Counseling
- Easterseals Colorado
- Feel the Beat
- Magpie Art Center
- Nourish Meals on Wheels
- Parker VFW Post 4266
- SECOR Cares
- Step Seven Ministries
- Tall Tales Ranch
- The Third Place for Kids

Local grant making is one of the many ways DCCF helps Douglas County nonprofits thrive. "We provide local nonprofits with financial resources as well as non-monetary benefits in order to help them fulfill their missions," said Kirsten Swanson-Moore, Executive Director of DCCF. "Through the generosity of citizens, businesses, and municipalities in Douglas County, we are able to support local nonprofit organizations that are making a real difference in our community and helping those in need."

Applications for DCCF's 2025 Second Cycle Impact Grants are now open through July 27th, and grant award notifications and fund distribution will be made in August 2025. For more information and to apply, visit <https://bit.ly/4o0r8y0>.
